

Free A&MRTS bus rides start today, run through June

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA – The City of Arcata Transportation Division is excited to announce that the Arcata and Mad River Transit System (A&MRTS) is offering free bus rides during the month of June.

The city encourages Arcata residents and visitors to take the bus to run errands and to explore Arcata’s neighborhoods, businesses, parks and recreational spaces.

“We’re excited to be offering free bus rides to the community. Public transit is a safe, affordable, and more environmentally-friendly way for folks to travel, do some shopping, or to get out and enjoy Arcata’s beauty. We hope visitors and residents take advantage of free bus rides and continue to use public transit beyond the month of June,” said City of Arcata Transit Manager LeAnn Schuetzle.

Free bus rides in Arcata are in effect starting Wednesday, June 1 through Thursday, June 30 with A&MRTS offering transit routes that run Monday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. during the summer months.

Stockton is new county top doc

COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT
HUMBOLDT – Dr. Candy Stockton was named Humboldt County’s new Health Officer, following confirmation by the Board of Supervisors March 24.

Dr. Stockton, a fourth-generation Humboldt County native, received her medical degree from Loma Linda University School of Medicine and is board certified in Family and Addiction Medicine. She served as the Medical Director for Shingletown Medical Center in Shasta County for nine years and most recently spent nearly five years as the Chief Medical Officer for the Humboldt Independent Practice Association in Eureka.

“Having spent years practicing medicine in rural Northern California has given me a deep understanding of the challenges inherent in medicine and community health in rural and isolated areas,” Dr. Stockton said.

In addition to practicing medicine, Dr. Stockton is involved in advancing the treatment of substance use disorders with a focus on pregnant and parenting individuals at the statewide level. She is also a trainer and consultant for the national Opioid Response Network and a contributing member of the California Maternal Quality Care Collaborative’s Mother &

Baby Substance Exposure Initiative Toolkit.

Humboldt County Public Health Director Sofia Pereira said she is pleased to welcome Dr. Stockton to the Public Health team. “Her diverse experience in delivering care and working across organizations to improve health outcomes in rural communities aligns perfectly with Public Health’s mission,” Pereira said. “Along with supporting our clinical duties, Dr. Stockton will be involved in advancing the community health improvement plan priorities: substance use disorder and suicide prevention, adverse childhood experiences and housing and homelessness.”

Dr. Stockton lives in Eureka with her husband and two children. In her free time, she enjoys going to the beach and trying new recipes. She is currently serving on the board of the Sequoia Park Zoo Foundation, where she has many happy memories with her grandparents, parents and children.

Dr. Stockton’s first day is expected to be July 18. She replaces Dr. Ian Hoffman who stepped down from the position in early March. Drs. Kate Estlin and Donald Baird have been filling the position part time and will stay on to support the transition.

City halts VW cleanups, CUNA carries on

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA – The City of Arcata’s Clean the Sidewalk Days in the Valley West neighborhood, which took place every first Sunday of the month, are canceled as of June 2022.

Volunteers are encouraged to attend the ongoing trash clean-ups hosted by Comunidad Unida del Norte de Arcata (CUNA) on the second to last Sunday of the month from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The group meets at the entrance to Carlson Park.

Volunteers of all ages are invited to attend these clean-ups and work will include picking up non-hazardous items left behind in the neighborhood’s public spaces. Trash pickers, safety vests, gloves and buckets will be provided, and community members who have their own clean up supplies are encouraged to bring them. Participants should bring their own water, a face covering, and dress for the weather. Volunteers will also be expected to sign a volunteer agreement and a COVID-19 liability waiver.

❖ MEET THE MCSD
Colleen Trask and Nicole Alvarado, finance directors

Joellen Clark-Peterson
 MCKINLEYVILLE COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT – MCKINLEYVILLE – Colleen Trask, Finance Director for the MCSD will retire this summer after 10 years of service. Nicole Alvarado was hired this spring to ensure a smooth changing of the guard.

Colleen and Nicole.

Colleen
What accomplishments are you most proud of having been a part of during your time at the MCSD?

Working with General Managers Greg Orsini and Pat Kaspari, we gradually improved the District's finances and financial processes to the point where we were able to issue Certificates of Participation in December 2021 with a Standard & Poor's rating of AA-, which is almost unheard of for a utility and community as small as ours. It makes the long-term infrastructure replacement projects we need possible at the lowest cost to the community, and I definitely appreciate being a part of that process.

Is there anything you wish the public understood better about the MCSD?

I wish the public generally understood how incredibly important their water and wastewater systems are in terms of public health and safety. We so often take for granted that we can drink and cook and clean with water straight from the tap. We take for granted that there will be water available for the fire department if there is a fire. We take for granted that sewage will be treated to EPA standards and not impinge on our day-today lives. We rightly hold up medical professionals and firefighters as heroes, but rarely consider the utility workers who keep those critical infrastructures supplied, and who work with far less thanks. They are unsung heroes in my book.

What do you plan to do in your retirement?

I'll definitely be spending more time with family. I also hope to do more travelling to Society for Creative Anachronism, sca.org, and other Medieval/Renaissance events where I can cross swords with other steel-fighters on the tourney field and sell the jewelry I make.

Nicole

What qualities/skills do you possess that will help you be successful in your position at the MCSD?

I have a lot of experience in governmental accounting and management. I previously worked as the Finance Director for the City of Kechi, Kansas. I have also worked as an auditor for a CPA firm where I focused on city, county, and special district clients. As a Department Director, I try to lead with empathy and focus on team building. I have spent the past few weeks asking questions, learning the District's processes, and getting to know the staff.

What about the position at the MCSD called your name?

I am a Humboldt State University graduate that left the area in 2006. It has always been a long-term professional goal of mine to live and work in Humboldt County again one day. When the position posted, I researched MCSD and was impressed with the leadership team, the capital projects and grants that were being pursued, and their commitment to financial stability.

Do you have an alter-ego/what is it?

A contemporary artist, I love taking fragments of something and creating something beautiful. I feel like I get to do that as an accountant except I use data to create financial statements.

What local areas are you looking forward to exploring?

I enjoy hiking, I am most looking forward to exploring Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park this summer.

Carlson Park | Trails, Mad River access

funds projects that provide nature access for wild-life-oriented uses such as bird watching, kayaking, and fishing. The development of free public river access at Carlson Park will provide the only official access within City limits for fishing, swimming and water play.

Funds will be used to create 3,800 feet of trail—including a pathway to carry kayaks, canoes, and paddleboards; an ADA compliant river lookout trail and observation deck; a new accessible parking lot; bilingual interpretive signage; multipurpose court/boat staging area; and two access points to the Mad River. The project will also include invasive species removal and native species revegetation.

Additionally, Carlson Park will become part of the regional Mad River Parkway vision. The Parkway is approximately 4.3 river miles from the existing river access at the County of Humboldt’s Mad River Beach to the west and 1.5 river miles from the Humboldt Bay Municipal Water District Park to the east. Non-motorized boats such as canoes, kayaks, rafts, and drift boats are often put in upstream at Hatchery Road near Blue Lake. Carlson Park will provide an opportunity for put in, take out and shuttle access along the lower Mad River.

The development of Carlson Park will provide numerous benefits to the residents of Arcata and surrounding communities, tourists, and the natural environment. The Park’s close proximity to the underserved Valley West neighborhood will provide nearby families and individuals with accessible and affordable recreation opportunities within walking and biking distance from their homes. The City continues to pursue additional funding opportunities for further recreational enhancements at Carlson Park to meet community needs and interest.

The City of Arcata would like to thank all community members who have participated in Valley West and Carlson Park community engagement activities throughout the years. Their vision and support were vital to the success of the grant application. The City would also like to thank the WCB for their financial assistance in helping make the community’s dreams a reality.

For more information on the plans for Carlson Park contact the Environmental Services Department by email at eservices@city-ofarcata.org or call (707) 822-8184.

One last blast of voting advice, for those undecided few

She's actually helping you

Hey folks, try not to become outraged by the crazy lady in the middle of the road. She is doing the best she can to pick up the myriad nails and screws that nincompoops relentlessly drop there so they don't wind up giving you flat tires. Sorry about the inconvenience.

Lieber-ate the Board of EQ

After reading the Voter Guide Bio, I felt compelled to recommend voting for Sally Lieber for our district's representative, a district which stretches along the coast from the Oregon border to Los Angeles County. Lieber stands for what we on the North Coast favor. She describes herself as the corporate free candidate. She states that one of her priorities is to fight for a property tax system that is fair and equitable for everyone: home owners, renters, and small business owners alike as well as the disabled and residents in communities of color. She also states that she will encourage state agencies to work to combat climate change.

At her website, sallylieber.org, you will find she has broad support including the California Professional Firefighters, Teachers Association, Nurses Association, Service Employees International Union (SEIU), AFSCME, Democratic Party and the Sierra Club among others. She already has governmental experience having been a city council member, a mayor, and a member of the state legislature with a strong environmental record. Taken altogether, I think this places her head and shoulders above the other 2 candidates, so Vote for Sally Lieber for the Board of Equalization Second District.

Eads, Stewart for justice

At the helm of our District Attorney's Office we need a steady hand exercising a lot of experience and understanding of the office and of Humboldt County. Our communities are changing, our public safety risks are evolving, and the DA is our county's chief law enforcement officer. We need a person who looks to our future from this perspective, someone grounded in this place and positive about it. Campaigns for public office are built around messaging. Qualifications for office are made of past experience and current behavior. The question to the voter is, what prompts their vote? I prefer the latter.

I spent 11 years as a deputy district attorney, serving in four counties including eight years in Humboldt (and Del Norte and Lake); I served under six different elected DA's. This gave me a sense of what it takes to lead this office well. I say we need someone who can lead from the sensible center.

Stacey Eads has what it takes for this. A long-time Humboldt County Deputy DA, she has worked not only the mainstream criminal aspects of the office, but Juvenile prosecution and other duties, giving her a much deeper understanding of our community and how its issues play out in the courts. And administrative responsibilities are much of what the elected District Attorney does; Stacey has served as Humboldt County's assistant DA and has hands-on familiarity with what it takes to make that office run well.

My Humboldt County DA vote is for Stacey Eads.

Candidates for elected judicial office must tread an unusual line – as judges are to be neutral arbiters of justice, they cannot campaign on the issues of the day. The appeal to the voters must be to their qualifications only, not their political positions. Character becomes paramount.

In 11 years' time as a deputy district attorney I prosecuted both criminal and civil cases to bench and jury trials in four counties (Del Norte, Humboldt, Lake and Mendocino Counties), before an array of local judges. I have appeared before administrative law judges, and in federal court before federal judges.

I write to endorse Steven Steward for Humboldt County Superior Court judge. He is from our community and has served it in his profession for years. I have met him professionally and personally, and find him to have all the qualities we need on the bench. He is thoughtful, measured, strives for fairness while being faithful to his duties, and is very mindful of the community he serves.

My vote for Humboldt County Superior Court judge is Steven Steward.

Diligent Dillingham

During the six years I served as Assistant Auditor-Controller, I had the privilege of working with Cheryl Dillingham while she served in her capacity as Deputy County Administrative Officer. Chery is a proven resource for the complexities inherent in the financial management of California counties. Her refreshing attitude of cooperation was very helpful to me during my tenure. She is uniquely qualified to restore the County's financial status with federal and State funding sources, including the delinquent mandated reporting. The present lack of compliance is negatively impacting every citizen of Humboldt County and will not resolve on its current trajectory. Cheryl exemplifies what good government looks like. Please join me by voting Cheryl Dillingham for Auditor-Controller on June 7th.

HLA against Measure J

The Humboldt Lodging Alliance (HLA) asks voters to look carefully at Measure J on the June 7th ballot and vote no.

The measure would increase the Transient Occupancy Tax (TOT) from 10 percent to 12 percent on lodging properties, campgrounds, and RV parks in the unincorporated County, making the tax rate higher than the six incorporated cities within the county and surrounding counties. This tax would make lodging properties located in the unincorporated areas of Humboldt at a disadvantage to those properties located in the incorporated cities and towns. This is a classic example of taxation without representation.

Like other businesses and industries in the County, Humboldt hoteliers think now is not the time to raise taxes. There's too much uncertainty in the economy, especially with rising gas prices and inflation as Humboldt recovers from the pandemic.

The wording of Measure J suggests it will support a variety of worthy causes, such as rural emergency services, children's mental health, repairing county roads, emergency communications systems, and the arts. However, the language is misleading.

While County staff and elected officials have said that the money would go to specific purposes, it would go into the unrestricted general fund, which means the County could use it for any purpose. There is simply no law or ordinance to ensure the best use of the TOT funds.

Measure J also misrepresents the projected revenue, stating that it would generate about $3 million annually. That estimate includes the 10 percent TOT already collected. The amount raised by Measure J would likely only be between $600,000 and $800,000 annually.

The most publicized benefit mentioned by Measure J allies is funding for the arts. Even with a discussed workgroup formed by the Board of Supervisors to recommend the best use of funds from Measure J, there is no guarantee that the County will fund the arts past the first year of this TOT increase.

HLA fully supports the Arts and Culture communities and understands they help bring visitors to Humboldt County. This measure, again, does not guarantee them any funding, nor how much funding they will receive, especially since the estimated increase of $600,000 to $800,000 will be spread between five to seven other beneficiaries.

The county staff's track record of managing earmarked funds isn't outstanding. Consider Project Trellis, in which millions of taxpayer funds were meant to help market Humboldt's cannabis industry. Years later, it remains mired in problems, and there's a lack of progress.

The HLA urges voters to reject this new tax, given that the County of Humboldt is struggling with tough questions regarding fiscal management. It's not advisable to give the government more money at this time.

The HLA has begun a three-year comprehensive brand development and marketing program that will promote Humboldt County drawing attention to all the fantastic features here, including arts and culture.

The HLA, the official owner's association for the Humboldt County lodging industry, has made significant investments through its community grants program in cultural projects throughout Humboldt County, including art events, music festivals, and seasonal activities. And it's the primary financial sponsor of the new Redwood Sky Walk.

A non-profit group based in Eureka, California, the association is dedicated to promoting responsible tourism among the many natural and cultural assets of Humboldt County. Its guest website is visithumboldt.com.

McLaughlin for judge

I am very excited to endorse Ben McLaughlin for Superior Court Judge.

Ben has significant ties to the community in Humboldt County, having worked for both the Humboldt County District Attorney and Public Defender offices. That experience of advocating on both sides of a criminal case gives him a unique perspective that our local bench could benefit from.

As one of the most experienced attorneys in the Public Defender's Office, Ben generously offered his time to serve as a mentor to me when I was newly licensed to practice law. What I appreciate about Ben as an attorney and a mentor is that he is intellectually curious, and never hesitates to reach for the penal code or the evidence code to help solve a complex problem. What we need are judges who understand the law and approach the work with compassion and lived experience as Ben does.

Smart, tireless Eads

Assistant District Attorney Stacey Eads has earned the opportunity to be the next District Attorney of Humboldt County. She has done it the old fashioned way: gaining experience through hard work and dedication, mainly prosecuting the most serious crimes against our most vulnerable victims, children.

In 2015 I was appointed as the special prosecutor in the Jason Warren double homicide trial. While working in the Humboldt County DA's Office, I observed Stacey Eads as a smart, efficient and tireless advocate for crime victims, leading by example with integrity.

In contrast, one of her challengers is a deputy public defender – but not any old defense lawyer. He was previously FIRED from the DA's Office because he couldn't follow its ethical guidelines. He believed it proper to have secret "off the record" conversations with homicide witnesses. Despite clear direction from the DA supported by published guidelines and the opinions of experienced prosecutors throughout the state [including myself, with 38 years of experience supervising hundreds of prosecutors] that this could have disastrous results including sanctions for ethical violations and dismissed cases, he continued to defend his conduct with implausible explanations.

The District Attorney's authority to charge and prosecute crimes must be wielded by someone we can count on Please join my family in Ferndale - and everyone else who recognizes the importance of ability and integrity - in voting for Stacey Eads for District Attorney

McLaughlin's disqualification issues

In addition to the reasons stated by Mr. Steward in his recent press release regarding my endorsement of him for superior court judge, I also have concerns about Mr. McLaughlin serving on the same bench with his significant other, with whom he has a close familial relationship.

For a little background, in responding to a question about disqualifications, Mr. McLaughlin gave the impression that the superior court judges in Humboldt did not have a concern about disqualifications or his relationship with another superior court judge, should he be elected.

That's not accurate. In fact, Mr. McLaughlin never asked me about my concerns. After reading his statement, I requested Mr. McLaughlin to clarify or retract it. After initially promising to do so, he later refused. Hence, this letter.

I am concerned about increasing disqualifications should Mr. McLaughlin be elected. It is no secret that Mr. McLaughlin is in a long-term committed or familial relationship with Judge Neel of the California Superior Court for Humboldt County. If elected, any of Mr. McLaughlin's disqualifications would likely also disqualify Judge Neel.

So, for example, if Mr. McLaughlin is close personal friends with a particular attorney, not only would he be disqualified from handling cases in which that particular attorney is involved, but so would Judge Neel because of Mr. McLaughlin's relationship with her.

Currently, we would lose only one judge in that situation – Judge Neel. If Mr. McLaughlin is elected to the bench, we would lose two judges available for appointment to those cases – Judge Neel and Mr. McLaughlin – or one-fourth of the bench (currently we have seven judges and one court commissioner serving on the bench).

Another concern is the ethics of serving on the same bench with a spouse or with someone in a close familial relationship.

Under federal law, spouses (or those with close familial relationships) are prohibited from serving together as judges on the same bench. 28 U.S.C.A. section 458. In enacting the latest revision to that law, in the 1990s, the proponents of the bill stated:

“When going to trial over serious, life changing issues, a litigant must be assured of the right to be treated fairly. When a judge sits in the position to over-turn the decision of another judge who is a close relative sitting on a panel of judges, the litigant clearly is going to question the impartiality and fairness of the final court decision. Preventing close family members from serving on the same court is a small price to pay to avoid the appearance of a loss of credibility of our court system.” 144 Cong. Rec. H9985-01, 144 Cong. Rec. H9985-01, H9986-H9987, 1998 WL 694712

As far as I know, California does not have a similar express statutory restriction on spouses (or those in a close familial relationship) from serving on the same bench. Nepotism restrictions seem to be handled on an agency-by-agency basis instead of a state-wide rule. However, the rationale behind the federal prohibition on spouses serving as judges on the same bench seems to apply with equal force to California judges --to avoid the loss of credibility and impartiality among our judges.

Of particular concern is that Mr. McLaughlin does not see the need to check with a judicial ethics expert about the possibilities of being conflicted out of serving on the bench. My understanding is that he asked a couple of judges about their opinion (all of whom certainly have a working knowledge of judicial ethics), but he has not sought advice from experts in the field of judicial ethics.

Though I too have a working knowledge of judicial ethics, I am not an expert in the field, nor have I researched all the rules and exceptions that might apply to Mr. McLaughlin's situation. I find it troublesome that Mr. McLaughlin has not done so.

Thank you,
Hon. Timothy A. Canning
Eureka

Why you should vote for me

At 51 years of age and 23 years into my career as a lawyer, I feel I have only now achieved the point in my life and career that I'm truly ready and qualified to transition to the role of Superior Court Judge.

To sit in judgement of another's freedom. To condemn a man or woman to prison, possibly for the rest of their life. These are no small considerations. I feel as though I have arrived at this point in my career arc by watching and learning from skilled attorneys and judicial officers, honing my craft as a trial attorney, and developing a profound respect for the judicial process and its impact on the community and the lives of those involved.

In our system of justice, the respect and dignity afforded the parties is paramount. There are flaws in the system, to be sure. It is an imperfect system; however, it is also among the best justice systems that exists and it distinguishes us from myriad other countries in the world. I am running for judge, in large part, due to my passion to contribute to what our system should aspire to achieve – a search for the truth and the pursuit of justice for all who appear before our courts.

Whatever first brought me to the law, over these many years I have come to believe it is truly what I was born to do. I spent the first five years of my career in civil litigation, before finding my calling in criminal law—both as a Prosecutor and Public Defender. The community needs a fair and equal system of justice, and I have very much enjoyed being a part of that endeavor.

I started my family in Humboldt County, in 2007. My partner, Kelly Neel, and I are raising our now 14-year-old daughter here, and Humboldt is where we intend to stay. I love this community and am proud to call it home.

My partner, Kelly, who I've been with for nearly 20-years, is currently a Superior Court Judge. Seeing how Kelly's experience as a former Prosecutor and Public Defender translated to her judgeship undoubtedly inspired me to begin my candidacy. I will aspire to be as decent and fair and respectful as Kelly is as a judge.

I ask that you please vote for me as your next Superior Court Judge.

Madrone works for all

Steve Madrone is an exceptionally honest and transparent supervisor who continues to offer real solutions that respect all of our views (see his long list of accomplishments at madrone4supervisor.com/professional-background/accomplishments/).

Nothing scares me more than politicians who list problems and hide their solutions because they know that many of us would not like them- and that their opponent is already working on them.

That's why the Yurok, Hoopa, and Karuk Tribes all support Steve: he stood with the Wiyot, and Rio Dell and Scotia residents, and many of us, in opposition to the problematic Terra-Gen wind project, in favor of the potentially more beneficial and less harmful offshore wind project, and solar rooftop electricity generation. Doss conflates the two wind projects to try to deceive voters, a practice that may account for no Harbor Commissioner endorsing him.

Similarly, Steve has worked with all stakeholders in assuring local water security and resiliency for the Trinidad-Westhaven environs that respects Tribal values-what we value most about living here. We are all benefitting from Steve's tireless advocacy for homegrown industries like tiny home manu

Judge Canning writes: “I do believe that Mr. Steward is better qualified based on his background, experience, and public statements, and so will endorse his candidacy.”

This adds a particularly important and meaningful endorsement from the bench that Steward seeks to join. Steward said, “I sincerely appreciate the support of Judge Canning and his endorsement of my candidacy. Having appeared before Judge Canning in Humboldt Superior Court over the years I believe that he is well aware of my experience and my commitment to this community. I am honored by his endorsement.”

❖ ELECTION 2022 FINAL ENDORSEMENTS

June 7 election. Judge Colegrove wrote to “encourage the vote for Ben McLaughlin for Humboldt County Superior Court Judge,” citing he “has been a long time supporter of Tribal/County collaboration and our Tribal wellness courts.”

Ben McLaughlin stated that “I am honored by Judge Colegrove’s endorsement. In my 23 years of courtroom experience, I’ve prosecuted and defended tribal members and always tried to treat Tribal members fairly, cognizant of their unique circumstances. In addition, the Tribes recognize my commitment as we work in a collaborative process to establish a Memorandum of Understanding with Humboldt County’s judicial. The Courts must ensure accountability in a way that leads to rehabilitation which breaks the cycle of criminal behavior. In this way, our communities are safer, and Justice is served.”

Judge Colegrove’s endorsement joins legal professionals like Del Norte County District Attorney Katherine Micks, former Humboldt District Attorney Paul Gallegos and a host of current and former Deputy District Attorneys and Public Defenders who have worked for years with McLaughlin.

Steward endorser’s claim fact-checked
Kim Bartleson, Humboldt County Superior Court Executive Officer swiftly reacted to a public letter sent to blogger John Chiv yesterday (johnchiv.blogspot.com/2022/05/humboldt-superior-court-ceo-disagrees.html)

The letter was issued by sitting Judge Thomas Canning. The Humboldt County Court wasted no time determining that Canning was seriously in error in his claim that Ben McLaughlin violated court ethics with his candidacy for Judge when his significant other was also a Judge. In consultation with the appropriate State authorities, Bartleson researched the claims and assumptions in Canning’s letter and found them to be factually incorrect.

“The Court has researched the issues and finds nothing under California law, nor the California Code of Judicial Ethics, that causes any ethical concerns for significant others serving on the bench at the same time. In addition, during the course of researching this issue, the Court learned there are other Courts within the state wherein a spouse of judicial officers in a close familial relationship have been serving on the same bench. Further, after discussion with both the Judicial Council and the California Judges Association Ethics Committee, they agree with the Court’s conclusions...

There is nothing in the law that would ethically prohibit Mr. McLaughlin from being a judge.”

Ben McLaughlin responded, “I thank the Court and Presiding Judge for affirming what I told Judge Canning via email – that my candidacy is neither ethically fraught nor unique within the state. In my opinion, which the Court now publically supports, my relationship with Judge Neel is a non-issue. Voters should only be concerned with electing the most qualified candidate.”

Hoopa Valley Tribe endorses Madrone

HOOPA – The Hoopa Valley Tribal Council has announced that it has endorsed Steve Madrone to represent the 5th District on the Humboldt County Board of Supervisors.

“Supervisor Madrone has already served one term as the 5th District’s representative and has shown that his values align with the Hoopa Valley Tribe. The Tribal Council supports Steve Madrone because he has demonstrated a commitment to protecting the environment, water quality, and preserving the Trinity River and Klamath River ecosystems that are so vitally important to the Hupa people and the larger community,” said Joe Davis, chairman of the Hoopa Valley Tribal Council. “We are optimistic that Supervisor Madrone will continue to support the Tribe’s restoration work on the Trinity River and will be a collaborative partner with the Tribe on a variety of issues.”

“I am honored to receive this endorsement from the Hoopa Valley Tribe and to able to partner with them on several important issues, especially the vital work preserving the Trinity and Klamath Rivers. I look forward to continuing this partnership,” said Supervisor Steve Madrone.

Karuk Tribe for Madrone
The Karuk Tribe endorses Steve Madrone for 5th District Supervisor for Humboldt County. Mr. Madrone is a strong advocate for natural resources and will continue to be responsive to the ongoing needs of our Eastern Humboldt County communities.

Mr. Madrone has spent his entire adult career here in Humboldt County over the past 45 years working to restore salmon habitat. This work has been carried out in nearly every watershed in Humboldt County, working with tribes, agencies, and others to restore our fisheries. We are grateful for his service on the Humboldt County Board of Supervisors over the last four years.

As a teacher at Humboldt State University, Mr. Madrone welcomes Native American students and includes traditional ecological knowledge (TEK) in his class offerings ensuring we can all learn from thousands of years of stable natural resources stewardship by local tribes. Steve is a great supporter of native culture and encourages the University to do more for local native students.

The tribe has many community building initiatives in need of partnership support from the County and will need responsive and energetically leadership to accomplish these goals.

The Karuk Tribe looks forward to working with Mr. Madrone on solving problems in the Klamath River region and within our aboriginal territory. The future is complex and we have much to do.

The choice is Doss

Fiscal responsibility, regulatory efficiency, public and private security and safety, long-term water resiliency and County road maintenance should be the highest priorities on County Supervisors’ agendas. Life-long Humboldt County resident and experienced businessman Larry Doss is the best choice for voters in the Fifth District to address these matters.

Stellar, tireless Madrone

Steve Madrone has had a very productive first term as County Supervisor and I have no doubt that during his second term, he will continue to work tirelessly for the Fifth District. Madrone is well known for his stellar environmental record related to forest protection and health, salmonid restoration, Klamath Dam removal, and trail construction and improvements. However, he has also worked diligently to ensure public health and safety throughout the district.

Some of his accomplishments include helping ensure that a severely blighted Orick motel was cleaned up and its residents relocated, securing funding for Westhaven Volunteer Fire Department to update their equipment, advocating for major repairs to Scenic Drive and Patrick’s Point Drive, helping improve safety for pedestrians and bikes at the Hammond Trail crossing of Hiller Road, advocating for the Public Works Department to improve safety along Liscolm Hill Road, assisting the Orleans Fire Department to get an extension on a county grant to build a new Fire Hall, helping obtain funds from Green Diamond and North Fork Lumber to install radar speed devices along Maple Creek Road near Blue Lake, and supporting new positions for Public Works to manage road work, fuel reduction and other infrastructure projects.

In short, Steve Madrone is seriously committed to maintaining and improving human infrastructure as well as natural infrastructure. Let’s keep him in office!

Madrone yes, Doss no

After listening to two debates between 5th District Supervisor Steve Madrone and his challenger, Larry Doss, two things strike me. The first one is that Madrone is familiar with all the issues and has worked on them extensively during the past four years. Doss has little to say in response to most questions from the audience. However, he is promising change. What sort of change? It’s hard to tell because there is only one issue on which Doss distinguishes himself, and that is the extension of a water pipeline north from McKinleyville to the Rancheria in Trinidad.

The Trinidad City Council has voted against connecting to this proposed pipeline and so has the Westhaven Community Services District. Madrone advocates for water conservation and efficiency. Most people who live up here know that importing water from the Mad River would galvanize development. We like our forest. We also know that building houses in the wilderness/urban interface would increase the risk of wildfire.

Larry Doss is a real estate agent. He was likely recruited by developers to try to dislodge Madrone from the Board of Supervisors. He has either moved to Orick in order to claim residency in the 5th District, or he is just saying that he moved there from his long-time Eureka home. I’m very satisfied with Supervisor Madrone’s hard work to improve the quality of life for people of his district. I’m very suspicious of Larry Doss’s motivations.

Madrone’s proven record

If you live in the Fifth District, vote for Steve Madrone, who has a proven reputation of getting things done for his constituents, and for the county as a whole. A few of Steve’s many accomplishments:

Public Safety: Got raises and better benefits for deputies – and all county employees – to make it easier to fill positions and keep trained personnel once they are hired.

The Tribes: Helped the Yurok and Hoopa Tribes work cooperatively with the County to improve children’s services, and get better social services for individuals and families. Helped the Hoopa Tribe get their mill up and running. Working on bringing public transit to the Yurok Tribe.

East county: Helped Willow Creek residents after the Knob Fire and after the big snowstorm last winter, including freeing elderly residents from their blocked driveways.

McKinleyville: Working on forming a Town Center. Investigating the financial feasibility of the town incorporating (which would allow it to make its own decisions). Improvements to Clam Beach, especially for the disabled. Working on getting an Airport Business Park and a Vista Point Park along the freeway. Torpedoed Dollar General’s attempts to get a liquor license right next to the high school.

Everywhere: Helped people deal with neighborhood drug houses, code enforcement, and other health & safety issues. Brought cannabis farmers and neighbors together to discuss issues.

The environment: Helping get a huge grant from the Army Corps of Engineers for salmon restoration and flood protection in the Orick area. Helped with fisheries restoration on Powers Creek (Blue Lake area). Advocated for removal of Klamath Dam, and making sure that the demolition and restoration work go to locals.

Steve has lived in the community he represents for 45 years. His roots are here, and so are his grandchildren. He’s not here to make a quick buck and then leave. Moreover, he is accessible – he answers emails and phone calls. He is calm and level-headed, and is not owned by the “good old boys” of Humboldt.

Madrone’s high standards

I urge you to vote for Steve Madrone for 5th District Supervisor.

I have known Steve for 49 years and he is a man of integrity. As an Eagle Scout he set a path early in life of being a honest and hard working person, and that is the man I know today.

Steve has lived in the 5th district for 46 years and knows it well. He knows its rivers, streams and flood plains. He knows the valleys, the ridge lines and its varied communities. He knows the small business owners and what help they need to survive. He knows the community leaders in the towns and tribes, and who to call when something needs to get done. I trust Steve to support the upcoming offshore wind energy project and to ensure that it meets our community’s needs and values. Steve will insist that investors hire local and pay living wages and that they mitigate for potential impacts to avian and aquatic species. Steve knows we need to move away from the fracked natural gas that currently provides electricity for our area.

I asked Steve why he voted against the Terra Gen wind project although he supports clean energy and he said that while this was a hard vote to take, there were several reasons that he did so. Terra Gen refused to commit to hiring local labor until forced to by the denial of their permits by the Planning Commission. They also refused to commit to cleaning up the site after its life span had passed and planned to leave an industrial mess for the community to clean up (remind anyone else of the abandoned toxic pulp mills that left us taxpayers footing the bill for clean-up?). Lastly, the construction was to occur on Sacred Ground of the Wiyot Tribe.

I appreciate Steve’s long-term commitment to a creation of more affordable housing and to finding solutions out of homelessness. As Supervisor, he supported amendments to the County’s Housing Element which incentivizes Accessory Dwelling Units, tiny homes, and detached bedrooms. He voted for the recent large subdivision in Cutten and recommended that we develop public private partnerships to add more amenities like EV charging and safe pathways.

I am grateful that Steve led the effort at the Board of Supervisor to get sheriff’s deputies and all county staff significant pay raises to help with hiring and retention. I appreciate that he wants to fund more deputies, and that he is recommending and working for the addition of trained social workers to ride along with deputies to help de-escalate situations and get folks into addiction treatment or help with mental health care.

Steve has been committed to a balanced budget since day one, and it hasn’t always been easy. He was the only board member that held his ground on limiting tax cuts for cannabis farmers, and has consistently spoken out for better cooperation among all departments in getting our books in order. Recently Steve supported allocating $3.5 million dollars of Measure Z funding for roads and has been a consistent advocate for more funding to maintain and improve our current roads.

Steve’s deep roots, knowledge and love of this district will help him continue to be an effective representative for the 5th. Please join me in marking your ballot for Steve Madrone and getting it in by June 7.

CRABS FANS TAKE NOTE The Crabs will start half an hour early, at 6:30 p.m., on all Saturdays this season. There are just so many good reasons for this: the visiting team is already here, having played Friday night. Families can get their kiddos to bed a bit earlier. That's also a half hour more of warmth before the cool night air engulfs the ballpark. "It's a trial run," Tracy Mack, Crabs board member said. "We want fans to know!" Gates will open, as they do at all games, one hour before game time.

❖ AT THE ARCATA PLAYHOUSE

An experimental blend of physical theatre, storytelling

ARCATA PLAYHOUSE
CREAMERY DISTRICT – Returning to Humboldt with their second performance, Dell’Arte International alums Hannah Shaka and Marguerite Boissonnault bring their original theatre piece, Jumella, to the Arcata Playhouse, 1251 Ninth St. in Arcata.

Audiences have the chance to enjoy this experimental blend of physical theatre and storytelling on Friday, June 10 at 8 p.m. and Saturday, June 11, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Jumella is a story of twin sisters, two halves of one whole, struggling against the forces that seek to pull them apart.

Determined to be together, the two descend into Jumella, a mysterious world of spectral creatures that wrench them from moments of violence to tenderness. Can they overcome the depths of this world together? Using aerial silks and otherworldly masks, Jumella tells the story of the spirit’s search for transcendence.

Jumella is written and performed

The other half, she says, are overpopulated with beeswaxed updates of her mostly bird-themed monotypes and block prints. Floyd has been very busy making new work and will also offer an eclectic collection of collages from days gone by. She’s guessing that there will be close to 90 pieces on display and is very much looking forward to showing every single one of them to you! Students study the sea

MARE

TRINIDAD – At Trinidad School we encourage marine education as the ocean is literally in our backyard. For more than two decades our school has had a month dedicated to teaching and enriching students’ knowledge about the ocean, its marine life, and habitats.

This year, a group of students formed the MARE Committee to organize and inform others about the events in our MARE month.

Some of these events include the annual Sumeg Tidepooling trip, the Ocean Open House, where students share information and facts about their classes’ habitat, and our Ocean Parade, which is a walk throughout town with fun costumes and educational signs to bring public awareness about the ocean. Some other events and activities consist of our Salmon Run where we run around town to different life cycle stations that represent the life of a salmon and our Ocean Film Festival where we show short clips of the ocean, learn fun facts, and more information about the Pacific Ocean. And to top the list off, we include an ocean day and an ocean fair to celebrate MARE month and appreciation.

Please join us in supporting our local oceans and beaches!

OBITUARY

Doris Rose DeLashmutt
Aug. 10, 1931 – May 20, 2022

Doris Rose DeLashmutt peacefully “called it curtains” on Friday, May 20, 2022 with friends and family surrounding her.

Her parents, Filomena and Michele Romanini, immigrated from Antraccoli, Italy in 1921 and made their home in Orick, California. She was born on Monday, August 10, 1931 in a house that once stood directly on the current Orick Fairgrounds.

The Romanini brood consisted of six children and she was the prized baby of the family. Doris was proud to be from Orick and every chance she got, she’d tell you a story from her charmed childhood.

Some of her favorites include the time a bunch of young Orickians took a makeshift raft out on Freshwater Lagoon, not one of them could swim and she marveled that they all survived the adventure.

The one and only time she was kicked off a school bus by the driver, was for talking; interestingly the school bus driver happened to be her older brother, Leo. She was left on the side of the road, hitchhiked and got a ride from a logging truck.

Doris loved her siblings and always said she never would have learned to ride a bike if it wasn’t for her sister Norma’s paper route. She had a couple of favorite childhood jobs, one was as the usherette and soda jerk for the first and only movie theater in Orick and the other was working for the Webster household, Orick’s unofficial finishing school, where she proudly learned to set a table.

Doris wasn’t a smoker and it wasn’t because she hadn’t given it a try; she said she snuck a few when she was little but “it never stuck”.

She graduated from Arcata High in 1949 and was a jock before it was fashionable. Of note she was the president of the Girls’ League and helped with the annual Hi-Jinx (let your imagination figure that one out).

Doris graduated from Humboldt State College with a teaching credential in the days when female teachers would get fired if they went to a bar and certainly couldn’t be pregnant and keep their jobs. She began her teaching career at her alma mater in 1954, becoming Orick’s first P. E. Coach. She finished her career at Pacific Union in Arcata. Mom was a favorite for many students and to this day former 2nd graders stop to say hello.

She met her husband, Wade J. DeLashmutt in Orick at a dance, got married on July 3, 1955 in Orick and the rest is history. They had three children.

In 1972, she was diagnosed with Rheumatoid Arthritis and her life dramatically changed. From that point on, she never worked outside of home. There are very few times her children can remember her complaining of the pain. She was the carpool queen before “carpooling” was a thing.

She babysat countless kids that were sick when their parents couldn’t stay home to take care of them. She was known for helping out her elderly friends, sometimes driving them to the grocery store or taking them to doctor’s appointments. She also had a way with rascally youth, one such rascal still affectionately refers to her as “Mahzie”.

If you stopped by the DeLashmutt house on any given day, there would be a wheel of dry jack cheese sitting out waiting to be grated. Doris was the poster child for Ma Bell. She was on the phone non-stop calling old and new friends alike every day and her family would joke that if the phone didn’t ring for five minutes, it must have been off the hook. One of her nieces was impressed with her open mindfulness around religion and politics.

She came to life when her older sisters, Rita and Norma, stopped by to visit. They would sit around the table into the wee hours and the conversation was exclusively in Italian, the language that tied them to their Italian roots. To this day the smell of chopped parsley, onions and celery will transport her children to a moment in time when Zia Bruna and Zio Picchi would come to the house for an all day production that ended in enough spaghetti sauce to feed an army.

In her final days, she said she thought she’d have more time on this planet. Well, for a 90 year-old who spent her whole life in beautiful Humboldt County, she lived a good, full life; may we all be so lucky.

She is preceded in death by her parents, Filomena and Michele Romanini; siblings, Robert (Uncle Pete), Rita, Joe, Leo, and Norma.

She is survived by daughter, Lori Vogt and son-in-law, Randy Vogt; son, Wade DeLashmutt Jr. and daughter-in-law, Sabrina DeLashmutt; daughter, Dina Macdonald and son-in-law, Roger Macdonald and granddaughters Patricia and Sabrina Macdonald.

The family would like to thank Hospice of Humboldt and the Threshold Singers.

On Saturday, June 4, 2022 Doris will have her official send off at St. Mary’s Church in Arcata with a Rosary at 9:30 a.m. and Funeral at 10 a.m.

Reception immediately to follow at the Portuguese Hall in Arcata. In lieu of flowers, please send donations to Hospice, Betty Chinn, Food for People or your favorite charity.

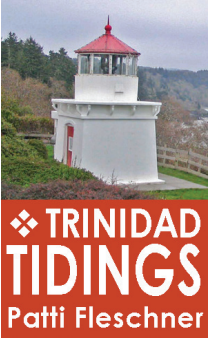

City-wide yard sale Saturday in Trinidad

The City of Trinidad does a commendable job of recycling, reusing, and trying to keep landfill dumping and waste at a minimum.

On Saturday, June 4, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., everyone in the City of Trinidad has a chance to set up a front or back yard table and offer household treasures or unused stuff for sale. Each household keeps its own proceeds.

The event will take place irrespective of rain, wind or sunshine. Set up your table by 10 a.m. No early bird browsing allowed, please. The city will provide local media coverage of the event and even put up signs on your street if you let Jennifer Hakenen (jhakenen@trinidad.ca.gov or (707) 677-0133) know immediately.

Besides being a wonderful opportunity to promote reuse and recycling, what a perfect time to stroll around town and chat with your neighbors. This is a win-win day for everyone in Trinidad.

TRINIDAD TIDINGS
Patti Fleschner

Lighthouse Open

The 1871 Trinidad Head Lighthouse will be open on Saturday, June 4 from 10 a.m. to noon courtesy of the Bureau of Land Management-California Coastal National Monument, the Trinidad Rancheria and Trinidad Museum volunteer docents.

Pedestrians only. No vehicular access. Pets on leash, please. It rained last month. Sometimes it's overcast or windy. Doesn't matter. Seeing the coastline and the ocean through the eyes of the lighthouse keepers 175 feet above sea level providing aids to navigation for mariners in the 25' tower, raises one's spirits in any weather condition.

1873 Holy Trinity Church Mass

Tom and Nancy Sheen write that Holy Trinity Church on Hector at Parker streets will hold Mass at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 4. Mass will be held every Saturday evening through the summer.

Trinidad Civic Club Kidder Scholarships

Martha Sue Davis, chairman of the Trinidad Civic Club Carmen and James Kidder Scholarship committee, announces that Jude Ortega and Eliana Horowitz are the recipients of the 2022 James and Carmen Kidder Academic and Trade School Scholarships. The outstanding high school seniors will receive $2,000 each.

The achievements of these fine students are presented in detail in an article accompanying this column.

Trinidad Civic Club gives scholarships to super students

TRINIDAD CIVIC CLUB

TRINIDAD – The Trinidad Civic Club is pleased to announce Jude Ortega and Eliana Horowitz as the 2022 winners of Academic and Trade School Scholarships from the Carmen and James Kidder Scholarship Endowment.

Jude and Eliana will each receive a $1,000 award, with an additional $1,000 from an anonymous donor generously matching the scholarship amount.

Trade School Scholarship recipient Eliana is a resident of Trinidad and a senior at Eureka High School where she maintained a 4+ GPA all four years. She'll be attending College of the Redwoods in the fall with a focus on healthcare.

She plans to become a certified medical assistant and then complete RN courses. Her interest in the healthcare field was influenced by her volunteer work and medical advocacy for which she received a National Hemophilia Foundation Teen Impact Award.

Her teachers describe her as unwavering, tenacious, determined, empathetic and positive – qualities important in any healthcare setting. While working and paying for many of her own bills, including car and insurance, Eliana still finds time to volunteer in the community, help with rescue animals, harvest local produce and cultivate soil for future crops.

At school, she has been active in girls' varsity golf and several campus clubs.

Beginning in her sophomore year, she realized that many students were unaware of campus events, so she created a Eureka High school morning news program which she produces, edits and broadcasts over the school's intercom.

Academic Scholarship recipient Jude is a McKinleyville resident and senior at Arcata High School. He has an impressive 4.52 GPA, earning the Superintendent's Award all four years and placing him third in his class of 228 at Arcata High School.

This fall Jude will be attending Wharton Business School at the University of Pennsylvania with a focus in Management Information Systems. From a young age, Jude has had a strong interest in new ways to solve old problems plaguing our planet.

Creative and with an entrepreneurial spirit, he started his first business in the fifth grade. As a surfer, he was aware of plastics polluting our ocean, so he designed a reusable sandwich bag.

He won the 2020 Humboldt County's Innovative Business Challenge by showcasing this business in a fiercely competitive Shark Tank-like setting. Jude has volunteered extensively at his school as captain of the cross-country team, Vice President of the Associated Student Body, President of his school's chapter of the National Honor Society and the Student Board Representative, a voice for all Arcata High students.

Jude believes that ultimately he will better our world and set us on a more sustainable, efficient, plentiful and hopeful path.

Contributions from members of the Trinidad Civic Club and the community make this scholarship fund possible.

Members of the Scholarship Committee are continually impressed by the hard work, dedication and formidable accomplishments of our local students. To learn more about the Trinidad Civic Club and its scholarship program visit our website at trinidadcivicclub.org or email tcc@trinidadcivicclub.org.

OBITUARY

Constance Marguerite Butler Dec. 1, 1936 - March 24, 2022

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the passing of Constance Marguerite Butler on March 24, 2022. She died peacefully with her family by her side.

Connie, as she was always known, was born in Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, on Dec. 1, 1936 to Flora Mae Paterson and Frederick Kombrink. At age 15 she moved to Glendale, California, where she lived with her Aunt Mae and Uncle Edward Fordham and attended Glendale High School.

She went on to UCLA where she met William Richard Butler and earned a BA in Applied Arts. The couple married in 1957 and soon had two children, Tod and Laura. While pregnant with their third child, Grant, Connie graduated from Cal State Long Beach with a Masters degree in Fine Art. The family moved to Ukiah in 1968 where they had their fourth child, Adam. The couple divorced in 1972 and, tragically, her son Grant was killed in an accident soon after.

Connie found a new home in Glen Ellen, where she earned her Psychiatric Technician license and worked at Sonoma State Hospital. During this time she lived on the Art Farm and formed lifelong friendships with local artists.

She was a prolific artist and well-respected sculptor, as comfortable working with alabaster and soapstone as she was with black walnut and clay. She was an avid reader of Carl Jung and diligently kept a daily journal of her dreams, turning some of them into bodies of work that spanned illustration, painting, and writing.

In 1993, Connie moved to Trinidad, California, the place where she felt most at home, and cultivated a large community of artists and friends. She loved working with the artists at Westhaven Center for the Arts, Fire Arts, and Trinidad Art Gallery and was an active member of Christ Episcopal Church.

In all these places – and everywhere she went – she will be dearly remembered for her caring and erudite presence, her sense of humor, and her bright orange car.

One of the great pleasures of Connie's life was her grandchildren, making art with them, writing to and receiving letters from them, and proudly introducing them to her large and diverse group of friends.

She was an attentive, loving, and open-hearted grandmother to William Butler, Ashley, Erika, and Claire Anderson, and great-grandmother to Alana and Abigail Butler. William Tod Butler, Connie's eldest son, died at 59 of cancer. Her daughter, Laura Anderson, lives in Sonoma and her youngest son, Adam Butler, resides in Fortuna.

A memorial service will be held at Christ Episcopal Church 625 15th St. in Eureka, Calif. on July 16, 2022 at 11 a.m. It will be followed by a Celebration of Life at the Trinidad Town Hall from 2 to 5 p.m. Donations in her honor may be made to Fire Arts Center in Arcata for the Connie Butler Scholarship Fund. Pettable, playful Pepper & Cashew

Here we are in June already! Lots going on in the dog world. Last weekend was the Kinetic Grand Championship, featuring our favorite sculpture Sparky, the Kinetic Foster Dog.

In addition to being a fine racer, Sparky promotes the adoption of rescue and shelter dogs. One of the favorite comments we heard on Saturday was from a child who carefully examined Sparky’s fur and paws and announced that he wasn’t real.

Fortunately, Sparky was accompanied at the start of the race by six very real canines. My 15-year-old Hank, the model for the sculpture, donned a flower corsage and his “I’m with Sparky” vest and led the five adoptable dogs up to the Plaza. They were all well-dressed in their own “Adopt Me” vests and were wonderful ambassadors for Redwood Pals and the shelter. Hank always likes the opportunity to report on the race himself. Watch for his full account next week.

We love the opportunity to take dogs on outings. It gives them a chance to stretch their legs and have some fun and gives us a chance to see how they act away from the kennels. Some of the other dogs at the shelter have gone on daytrips or overnights with the volunteers. Pretty boy Cashew is one that has gone out with a volunteer and shown what good company he can be.

Cashew is a young adult male, guesstimated to be just over a year old. He is quite the looker with his beautiful silvery coat and big round golden eyes. Cashew is very affectionate and loves to cuddle. His super soft coat makes him very pettable!

Cashew is always in a good mood and has a happy go lucky way about him. Cashew has been quite friendly with other dogs; he would probably be quite happy to have a canine buddy in his months old. She came into the shelter with her brother. They were unfamiliar with the idea of leashes at first but have really impressed us with how quickly they’ve caught on.

Pepper has shown a sweet eagerness to learn this and other new skills. She has loved all the dogs that she’s been meeting also. We think Pepper might enjoy having a dog or cat friend to live with. Pepper is currently around 40 pounds; we expect her to be about 55 pounds at maturity.

All of the dogs are currently available at reduced adoption fees as part of the effort to reduce the shelter population, making a good deal even better! All of the adoptable dogs are spayed or neutered, microchipped and current on their vaccinations.

Please call the shelter at (707) 840-9132 to make an appointment to meet Cashew or Pepper or any of the other adoptable dogs.

Candidates | Addressing range of issues

The candidates were asked how the council can support the business community. White said it starts with asking them what they need. She also mentioned the pending Community Ambassador program as an opportunity for the unhoused to join in and assist with solutions.

Panta said Cal Poly Humboldt’s abundant business resources can be tapped in partnership with the city. He called for a “comprehensive plan to work together” to solve homelessness.

Rosen said it starts with reaching out to business owners and understanding their perspectives to guide formation of “cohesive partnerships with the businesses and other organizations to support.”

As to whether Arcata Police has the resources to deal with the expected increase in the Cal Poly student population, Rosen said APD needs more support staff and resources “to flow through and support the influx of growth coming in to Cal Poly.” White said the key isn’t necessarily a bigger police department, but that more training and a citizen oversight review committee would be helpful. Panta said the department can optimize its resources and build string partnerships with both area law enforcement agencies and the community.

To preserve the environment, White said, greenspace, trails, open space, ag lands and forests are a priority. Infill, she said, will help protect natural areas from development.

Rosen the city should take “every step possible to preserve and protect the natural environment and the natural splendor of Arcata.”

Panta said Arcata lacks a “comprehensive, long-term vision and mission for long-term, sustainable city planning” and that programs, policies and procedures should be implemented toward that end.

Panta said the Old Arcata Road renewal project is “A great project” and that the city needs more like it.

White, a planning commissioner, said the project has official support but that it will soon come before Humboldt LAFCo, the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Rosen, an Old Arcata Road resident, supports the project for its safety benefits.

Rosen said she approaches houselessness with compassion, and that “robust support systems” must be in place to address the needs of the homeless in partnership with other communities. Panta said a “comprehensive plan” involving regional, state and federal resources is needed. White noted the pending Project Homekey and the Safe Parking program will help, but that “we need to step up our game” and “get creative” with ADUs and restoration of older buildings.

Sea level rise, White said, is being addressed by “measured retreat” in the General Plan. She noted concern about it imperiling the Wastewater Treatment Plan, and is concerned that climate change will disproportionately impact the poor.

Panta said a “long-term vision and plan,” currently lacking, is needed to address sea level rise, backed by federal aid.

Rosen said “our actions need to be prioritized; they need to be urgent.”

As to their qualifications, Rosen noted her MBA from Cal Poly Humboldt, her experience in government, as a business owner and employee. “I have keen business acumen, I have a sincere, genuine nature, I have an incredible analytical mind and an open heart,” Rosen said.

White said she is a 30-year resident with a sociology master’s degree from Cal Poly Humboldt, her service on the Planning Commission, her community organizing and advocacy. “I have a heart for public service,” she said. “I’m in the community, I’m ready to listen.”

Panta said he carries a range of skills not now present on the council, stemming from his Ph.D in finance and real estate, and his education, government, corporate experience. “Combining all these qualifications and expertise, I can bring a lot of things to the table,” he said. Compounding these qualities, he said, are his honesty and that he is “not a politician.”

White advocates for health care for all, and, with Cal Poly Humboldt’s expansion, for boosting area health care personnel and the housing they will need.

Rosen said “the focus needs to be on attracting and retaining the health care providers by way of robust support systems” and local placement of CPH graduates.

Panta said medical personnel must be increased by “making this place more sustainable for all kinds of people,” with improvements in facilities and schools.

The expansion of Cal Poly Humboldt, Panta said, requires more housing and better policing, with resource constraints overcome by partnerships and cooperation.

White said infrastructure, including housing, medical resources, better trained police, firefighters and wastewater treatment and more will be needed, including deeper partnerships with CPH.

Rosen said more preparation is needed to address the CPH growth, including “robust support systems” and affordable housing.

Asked whether they support buildings taller than four stories, as proposed in the Gateway Area Plan (GAP), Panta said he does support taller buildings so as to provide more housing capacity.

Rosen said she doesn’t support building taller than four stories, and that any proposed developments must be “cohesive with the aesthetics of our town as well as sound engineering.” She cited seismic and sea level concerns as reasons to “stick to four stories max.”

Citing doubtful infrastructure readiness, White said she doesn’t support allowing structures taller than four stories. “I think it’s most important we ask the people what they want,” she said, noting lack of support for taller buildings.

Rosen said the Gateway Area Plan needs more contingency planning, considering risks and consequences on many levels.

White said the GAP will deeply affect Arcata, and must be deliberative and inclusive, and avoid divisiveness.

Panta supports the GAP, but said care must be taken to address concerns and craft a long-term vision.

All of the candidates endorsed improvements in public transportation and alternative transportation infrastructure.

Election day is Tuesday, June 7.

MRB CEO Cooley honored as Public Advocate

MAD RIVER BREWERY BLUE LAKE — This week at the annual Reservation Economic Summit (RES) in Las Vegas, Nev., Mad River Brewery CEO and Yurok Tribal Member Linda Cooley accepted the National Center for American Indian Enterprise Development's (NCAIED) Tim Wapato Public Advocate of the Year Award. Each year, NCAIED, the longest standing and largest American Indian business and economic development organization in Indian Country, honors outstanding individuals and companies for their contributions to economic parity and the betterment of Indian communities. This year, the summit's theme is, "Be the Change."

"It is an honor and a privilege to receive recognition from such a prestigious organization," said MRB CEO Cooley. During the summit, Ms. Cooley delivered her acceptance speech, "I want to thank the National Center for American Indian Enterprise Development for serving Indian Country for over 50 years as the largest American Indian specific business organization—one helping Indian Country reach economic goals that support our sovereignty. The Tim Wapato Public Advocate of the Year award is an incredible honor, not just because of the namesake, but because of all those who have been recognized in the past for their contribution."

In 2020, the Tim Wapato Public Advocate of the Year Award was awarded to United States Secretary of the Interior, Deb Haaland, the first Native Secretary of the Interior and the first-ever Native Cabinet Secretary. Selected for their accomplishments, the Tim Wapato award highlights leaders who demonstrate strong advocacy for America's first peoples.

"Currently, we are still battling stigmas, suppression, and tokenism. Creating the change we need and reaching outside of Indian Country is imperative to change our reality. The leaders of business, mainstream organizations, and megalithic chain stores and franchises need to stand with us and create space for us tell our own story. Mad River Brewery has emerged as a leader in the craft beer industry and beyond by forging creative partnerships, and also through grit and determination. In deciding to tell parts of our story through our product labels, we are demanding room to create our own category."

Cooley continued, "I want to thank the Yurok Tribe and Yurok People, for taking our struggles and turning them into mobilization, all while maintaining the balance of love and respect. Life along the Klamath River—battling for water for our salmon—reached the tipping point and triggered a call to action in the face of a critical absence of recognition and outright opposition. By carving a new path and creating Undammed, a product named for the soon-to-be-realized largest dam removal and rivpose, including Historic State Park IPA which is named for an historic partnership between the Tribe and the California State Parks who entered a joint agreement to co-manage the visitor center at Humboldt Lagoons State Park, which falls within Yurok ancestral territory. Just like in 1989 when the dedication to craft began at Mad River Brewery, the brewery is making a splash in the craft beer industry, with exceptional craft brews and meaningful partnerships.

In February, the brewery announced a first-of-its-kind partnership with the beloved San Francisco Giants, marking the first partnership in the MLB with a tribal brewery. Additionally, during opening weekend at the Giants' Oracle Park, Cooley was asked to throw out the first pitch at game 2, marking the first time a Yurok Citizen has done so. The array of accomplishments serves as a symbol of inspiration despite obstacles and setbacks of every kind for others in the grind, working towards a more equitable future, where their own stories are shared.

Cooley finished her speech with encouragement to attendees, "Focusing on inter-tribal commerce, committing to supporting each other, doing the work and collaborating to be the change and be the example is the advocacy we now need. I am immensely grateful for those who have helped us along the way and excited to see what is to come, with future plans and with our future partners. For every Indigenous person out there that feels invisible, we will be that change. We see you, and we won't stop."

Housing | University finding new locations

municipal Advisory Committee (McKMAC.)

6,000 more students
Cal Poly Humboldt Professor Dale Oliver told the McKMAC that enrollment in fall 2022 is expected to be about 5,874 students. That will jump to 9,064 by fall of 2025 and ultimately reach about 12,132 in fall of 2030. "That's a lot more students," Oliver said.

While Arcata will see the greatest impact from new students, McKinleyville and Eureka may also play an increasing role in providing student housing, Oliver said.

Along with a growing student body, Cal Poly Humboldt may also see the addition of 100 to 150 more faculty. They'll move the Humboldt and will need housing.

"I think McKinleyville is an attractive community for new faculty and staff," Oliver said.

Oliver noted that growth in Humboldt will come from not just Cal Poly Humboldt, but also new industries, climate refugees and remote workers.

Indianola housing
Last week, a self-described "survey research company" called QMR made calls and sent text messages to some Humboldt residents to get their thoughts about building student housing east of the U.S. Highway 101 Indianola Cutoff at Walker Point Road between Arcata and Eureka.

The survey describes the project as providing housing for approximately 800 Cal Poly students, with 500 multi-family units, none more than three stories tall. It would include on-site amenities such as a market and laundry. There would be a roundabout and a new transit stop.

The survey states that about 10 acres of young redwoods, under 10 years old, would need to be harvested to build the housing.

The Union sent an email to a Cal Poly Humboldt spokesperson inquiring whether this was a university project, but did not receive a response before going to press.

Craftsman Mall
One of Cal Poly's more well-known projects is the development of the Craftsman Mall into student housing with 800 beds and 350 parking spaces. The $150 million project, located at 2715 St. Louis Rd. in Arcata, is scheduled to be completed by December 2024.

Campus Apartments
Oliver said that Cal Poly Humboldt has acquired Campus Apartments, which was previously a privately owned student housing complex located south of the library on campus.

The university plans to demolish the complex and build a new one with 600 to 700 beds and a 650-stall parking structure, according to the Cal Poly website.

The university intends to begin the $110 million project in 2026 and complete it in 2028.

Fairwinds Motel
Northtown's Fairwinds Motel has been fenced off, pending reconstruction. "Housing is a top priority for the University and as we plan for growing enrollment, we're focused on finding creative solutions that make the most sense for students, the local community and the University," said Mike Fisher, associate vice president for Facilities Management. "The Fairwinds Motel opens up new possibilities that we're just beginning to explore with its new owners."

Library Circle
A giant 200,000-gross square-foot structure is planned at the northwest corner of L.K. Wood Boulevard and the Library Circle. A schematic posted on the Cal Poly website shows that the building has "five floors," which suggests that it may be a five-story-tall building.

"The building will contain a new health center and expanded dining services with 650-bed residential complexes above," states the Cal Poly website. "The project will also construct a new parking structure located north of the project along Granite Ave."

The project has budget of $175 million with an opening date of August 2026.

Learning Building
More housing will be provided in conjunction with what the Cal Poly website calls the "Engineering & Technology— Learning Community Building."

"A new 90,000 square-foot building and adjacent 250-bed residence building located on the campus events field," states the Cal Poly website. "It will include academic departments, lecture halls, labs, offices, student space, communal space, conference space, and other student experience space. Total project budget $135 million, planned opening August, 2025."
